

AMENDMENT TO CLAIMS

1. A method of reducing container folding resistance, comprising:
forming a container blank having a panel, said panel including a score line;
and,
interposing a relief region along the score line, said relief region including a plurality of arranged cuts that lie substantially transverse the score line, wherein the score line is aligned with the relief region.